The Office has not received copies of any of the 11 foreign references which are listed in the Information Disclosure Statement submitted on or about 16 September 2—5 and therefore Applicants are requested to submit these 11 documents.

The following is a quotation of the second paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall conclude with one or more claims particularly pointing out and distinctly claiming the subject matter which the applicant regards as his invention.

Claims 1-6 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention.

The language ... , and a second step of: bonding an insulating layer from an upper side thereof... is so unclear so as to make these claims vague and indefinite. What, for example is the substrate onto which the bonding occurs? As applies to claims 3-5, 6/3, 6/4 and 6/5 the language... a second step of: bonding an insulating sheet, which adheres to a cover layer through an uneven pattern, from an upper side... also is so unclear and hence vague and indefinite that the claim is held to be thus vague and indefinite. What is meant by this language. Is the "pattern" which applicants claim the same as the "wiring pattern" in claim 3. If not what does Applicants intend by using this term? Moreover what is intended by use of the language "uneven pattern" (in claims 2 and 3) This language also makes the claims vague and indefinite.

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

Claims 1 and 2 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Luttmer (Pat. No. 3,835,531); hereinafter Luttmer.

Luttmer teaches a method for forming circuit interconnections between adjacent circuits (17) of a multilayered circuit structure. Solder protrusions (13 & 14) (or columnar conductors) are carried on conductor tracks (or wiring patterns) and an uncured insulating material (or sheet) separates the adjacent circuits (or circuit structures). The insulating sheet is pressed so that the columnar protrusions' heights conform to the thickness of the sheet. It would have been obvious to bond an insulating sheet to a substrate (having wiring patterns thereon) inasmuch having no solder protrusions rather what Luttmer expressly teach.
